the brain injury association

Dear Alex

Thank you very much for sending the wonderfully kind donation of £101.00 on behalf of the Worthing Piscatorial Society. It is exceptionally kind of you all to donate the proceeds from the raffle held at one of your recent general meetings. Please do pass on our gratitude and appreciation to all those who helped raised this generous contribution. It is very gratefully received and will help us to develop our work and improve our support for brain injury survivors.

Every 90 seconds someone is admitted to hospital in the UK with an acquired brain injury, yet it is often one of the most hidden and least understood conditions. The consequences of brain injury are sometimes life changing and may bring problems that affect relationships and employment, as well as physical well being and personal ability.

Your generosity and support of Headway's work is of vital importance. It helps to ensure that we can continue to meet this rising need and provide the nationwide information and services that people require as they re-build their lives after brain injury.

One such person is Simon Hales, a brain injury survivor. This is what he has to say about the support we provided him in the aftermath of his brain injury,

"Headway has enabled me to put my life back on track and study agriculture. Your support of Headway has helped thousands like me improve their lives after brain injury."

Thank you once again for your greatly appreciated and invaluable contribution.

Yours sincerely
